Imaging Science and Services, Inc. (ISSI) Holds the Line on Postal Costs even as the U.S. Post Office Raises Rates

Cleveland, Ohio, May 10, 2007 – Imaging Science and Services, Inc., (<http://www.issimage.com>), will not raise bulk mail postage rates in spite of the coming rate increase from the U.S. Post Office on May 14. According to Phil Hodge, President and Founder of ISSI, “operational improvements coupled with our recent headquarters move into much larger facilities has given us the means to keep our rates steady for our TEAMS Express™ customers who are also using our TEAMS Express Compliance Update service.” TEAMS Express Compliance Update provides comprehensive, intensive and ongoing postal mail updates that target corporate entities requiring sales tax exemption certificate updates. Not only are outbound requests delivered, all inbound responses are captured via fax or postal mail and logged in TEAMS Express ensuring that all responses and updates are properly logged.
